Project Profile

Whitney Veigas was hired by the developer, E. A. Fish Associates, to design and supply exterior signs for the grounds of this historic property. Four former water pumping buildings were renovated to accommodate luxury condominiums, and one new residential building was added to the site. The sign program directed visitors to five distinct buildings, as well as to a museum celebrating the history of the complex.

Our Solution

Since the grounds around these buildings are a public park and an historic site, all signs had to be approved by the Boston Landmarks Commission. The signs were black with white, traditional serif lettering. The exterior signs were produced using our C-Panel aluminum sign system, as well as black oxidized etched zinc for wall panels.
